Postgraduate Study options in Violence Prevention

The Postgraduate studies related to violence prevention is offered to those who have completed a relevant Bachelor's degree or have current relevant work experience in the field.

We would need to assess your qualifications in order to determine whether you meet all the requirements for admission.
Assessment of your qualifications occurs during the application and admission process. To start this process, you will need to submit an Application for Admission online and all relevant supporting documents. If you have any problems with the on line application process you can call 0800 61 62 63.

The application closing date for semester one 2020 is 8 December 2019.
We recommend you apply before this date, to allow time for admission processing.

When applying for admission online note that in Step 3 (Programme), you should put the following:

Which programme are you applying for?	Postgraduate Certificate/Diploma in Health Sciences
Select Programme	Postgraduate Diploma/Certificate in Health Sciences
Major/Specialisation	Health Sciences
When do you want to start your studies?	2020 Semester 1
Campus Location:	Grafton

Once your application has been submitted you will receive formal acknowledgement from the University including access information that will allow you to monitor the status of your application on Student Services Online.

You will need to upload the following documents:

- An official academic transcript of your highest school level qualifications and all your relevant tertiary qualifications showing grades and completion dates
- A colour passport-sized photo for your University ID card must be uploaded onto your application
- A CV providing information on your qualifications, work experience, professional registrations with any medical body
  Admissions documents

You will need to supply the following documents:

- Evidence of your name, date of birth and citizenship or permanent residency –original verified copy
  If you have had a change of name, for example through marriage, such documentation must be provided
  Send these documents to: Admissions postal/courier address

Details of the courses are available here
POPLHLTH 769
SOCCHFAM 700

The courses are offered in teaching blocks (between 4-6 days per course) suitable for distance students or those with employment commitments. Students are expected to dedicate between 10-15 hours per 15 point course per week. This includes - preparation, attending lectures, assignments and assessments, which can be tailored toward workplace or practice-based topics. There are no exams for these courses. Note that some courses are only offered in one semester.

Cost
The approximate cost for each 30 point course is $2,500. The final costs are confirmed by the University each year. For 30 point courses, many individuals may be eligible for interest free loans from Study Link.
Please see https://www.studylink.govt.nz/ for further information.

If you think your employer may contribute toward costs associated with your enrolment, but you need time to confirm this, we encourage you to apply by 8 December 2019. Note: Course fees will need to be paid by the start of Semester.

If you have any further queries please feel free to contact fmhs@auckland.ac.nz Att: Desiree Govender-Sinha

We hope to see you as a postgraduate student at the School of Population Health in 2020. An early application will help in securing a place, and allow us to assist you identifying the best academic pathway for you.