

Violence Free North Canterbury invite you to attend this special presentation.

Challenging our response to Family Violence

Learnings from the Family Violence Death Review Committee's Fifth Report

Guest speaker:

Julie Sach, FVDRC Specialist

Date: 15 May 2018

Time: 10.00am to 2.00pm

Venue: Rossburn Receptions,
Spark Lane (off Northbrook Road), Rangiora
Lunch is provided

Registrations are open now via google forms click here

Enquiries to : wendy.howe@wmk.govt.nz mob.021 432 028

Cost: $5 donation is suggested, no invoices issued although receipts available on the day

Content

- Changing how we think about family violence
- moving from safety planning to safety conversations
- understanding coercive control and entrapment
- moving from “failure to protect” narratives in child protection work
- the impact of intergenerational trauma

Julie Sach is currently on secondment as a Specialist with the Family Violence Death Review Committee, (FVDRC), where her key role is facilitating the regional death review process. She was most recently the Practice Manager for Probation and Case Management at the Dept of Corrections in the Central Region. Julie has long specialised in family violence work and was a previous coordinator of the womens' programme at Tauranga Living Without Violence. Her Masters in Counselling focused on narrative group work with women referred to anger programmes.

The FVDRC is an independent committee that reviews and advises the Health Quality & Safety Commission on how to reduce the number of family violence deaths.